We are writing you from Bend Veterinary Clinic,

Thought this was an amazing reunion and wanted to let everyone know how important it is to have your pet equipped with an identification microchip. It really does work!

We had a client come in this morning with a dog he had found while hiking around the Badlands. The dog was dehydrated, hungry, muddy and had scrapes on his legs. After they gave the dog some water, he jumped into their car and was ready to find his way back home.

Our client saw that the dog had a collar and veterinary tags on him, but no name or contact information. They brought the dog in to our clinic so Dr. Byron Maas could check his wounds and scan him for a microchip, something we do with every animal that comes to us. Lucky for him, his owner did have him microchipped.

We called the microchip company and got all of his owner's information, and quickly called the phone numbers that they had provided. We were able to find out what the dog's name was, and where he lives, which happened to be over 550 miles away, in Pocatello, ID. We contacted the owner, and with a grateful and teary voice, was amazed that his dog was found and doing well. He is making arrangements to come to Bend and pick up his loyal companion, Buster.

If you have any questions about this story or wish to inquire about equipping your pet with microchip identification, call us at the clinic at (541) 382-0741.

Thanks for your time,
